

MIAMI BEACH

COMMITTEE MEMORANDUM

TO: Finance and Economic Resiliency Committee Members

FROM: Eric Carpenter, City Manager

DATE: September 20, 2024

TITLE: DISCUSS THE POSSIBLE CREATION OF INCENTIVES FOR OWNERS OF VACANT COMMERCIAL PROPERTIES TO LEASE VACANT SPACES

RECOMMENDATION

The Administration recommends the Finance and Economic Resiliency Committee review and discuss best practices of nationwide incentive programs and the potential creation of pilot programs to test the effectiveness on Miami Beach vacant commercial property owners.

BACKGROUND/HISTORY

During the July 24, 2024 City Commission meeting, the Mayor and City Commission referred to the Finance and Economic Resiliency Committee (FERC), a discussion (C4 K) regarding possible incentives for owners of vacant commercial properties to lease vacant spaces.

As noted in the referral memo, vacant buildings have an adverse effect on Miami Beach commercial corridors because they are typically untended and under-maintained, making a community look less attractive. Vacant property can also attract loitering and other unwelcomed activities, potentially negatively altering the character of our community and commercial corridors, often triggering the resources of local police, fire and building departments.

The Economic Development Department has implemented a series of incentive programs to encourage new or expanding businesses in certain industries that work to diversify the City's economy, by attracting tech, medical, financial services and other quality, high-wage job businesses to the City.

Methods and strategies are aimed to revitalize targeted areas and increase investment in specific neighborhoods by being creative, smart, and agile. In addition, the team collaborates with community and business associations to find solutions to reduce the number of vacant properties.

Miami Beach incentive programs include the Vacant Storefront Cover Program, which seeks to improve the appearance of commercial corridors by assisting property owners in covering vacant storefront façades with preapproved artistic designs inspired by the City's award-winning Make a Bold Move business attraction marketing campaign. The program has been welcomed by landlords struggling to find desired tenants. Program participation is voluntary, at no cost to businesses, and is fully subsidized by the City. The Department conducts outreach and recruitment for the voluntary program.

To date in Fiscal Year (FY) 2024, the Department has added sixty-two (62) new participants to the program. This outcome, in large part, is due to collaborative outreach with the Code Compliance Department. To extend the program's impact on commercial corridors, the Department is actively conducting outreach and analysis of existing program participants, to collect occupancy data and provide support with commercial leasing efforts.

Additional proactive programs, designed to attract new business to vacant properties include the Expedited Plan Review and Permitting Incentive Program, a no-cost incentive intended to encourage targeted relocations or expansions and associated development among technology and financial services firms as well as corporate headquarters (including regional headquarters) for any industry. Building permit applications for office uses that support the targeted industries are eligible for a 10-business day plan review and permitting process.

Likewise, the Job Creation Incentive Program (JCIP) is a key incentive within Miami Beach's economic strategy. JCIP appeal is rooted in encouraging the growth of select ventures and facilitating the continued success of established businesses in Miami Beach. The program's foundational principle is to entice the establishment of high-caliber, skilled and competitively compensated positions to Miami Beach. To be eligible, businesses must demonstrate dedication to fostering employment through the initiation or transfer of a minimum of ten (10) new full-time positions. These roles should enhance the employment landscape and provide annual wages surpassing 125% of the established averages of either Miami-Dade County or the State of Florida, with the higher of the two being the benchmark.

The Commercial Lease Subsidy Program (CLS) was specifically developed to enhance the commercial character of retail properties in the Art Deco/Miami Modern Commercial Character Overlay District (District). CLS uses an incentive grant to defray leasing costs for commercial properties in the District, aiming to promote arts and culture and family-friendly commercial activities, while encouraging property owners to transition away from nonconforming business models. Eligible applicants receive monthly reimbursement of leasing-related expenses, such as lease or mortgage payments, insurance costs, and real estate taxes, up to $20,000 per year for a total of three (3) years. Additionally, participants will be reimbursed for the cost of the City's annual business tax receipt (BTR).

Creating appropriate incentives for the owners of vacant commercial properties is a constant goal for the Economic Development team. The goal is to actively seek out and evaluate best practices, challenges, and more to acquire data to assist in developing measurable and meaningful incentives and reduction in the number of vacant properties in the City's commercial corridors to inform the discussion.

ANALYSIS

To develop new and innovative incentives, it is prudent to seek out best practices and determine how other municipalities have created and/or improved overall performance and productivity of vacant property owner incentives. FINANCIAL INFORMATION

CONCLUSION

A number of cities have similar incentive programs as Miami Beach, suggesting we are on the right path. A few cities have interesting programs that we can explore with more detail. None of these programs will work without the collaboration and sincere and meaningful participation of property owners to be actively engaged in attracting and supporting new and existing businesses, and purposely combating the challenges of vacant property.

The solution to building a prosperous and thriving business community requires partnership. As the City works to improve the efficiency of the development permitting process, property owners may have to explore financially supporting businesses or entrepreneurs through accessible rents and payment structures.

Positive change is not going to happen overnight, businesses are still adversely impacted by the lingering effect of the pandemic on the economy, talent pool, supply chain, access to capital, and the growing cost of housing, education, childcare, and more.

However, we will continue to test programs, work with owners and special assessment districts, and leverage the assets of the city to build a healthy, competitive, and successful business community.
